TOP Liquors

Walvisbaai het 'n nuwe generasie drankwinkel in die vorm van Top Liquors wat onlangs sy deure vir sake op die hoek van Sam Nujoma Rylaan en 9de Weg geopen het. Die eienaar mnr. Werner Bachmann het 17 jaar se ondervinding in die Spar en Tops Groep en het nie alleenlik sy kennis in hierdie nuwe besigheid gestort nie, maar ook sy geesdrif en toewyding om hierdie winkel 'n nuwe generasie onderneming in alle opsigte te maak.

"Top Liquors beïndruk jou uit die staanspoor met sy moderne en ruim vloer rangskikking. Alle produkte is netjies uiteengesit, word aantreklik vertoon en pryse is maklik leesbaar. Die verskeidenheid is wyd en die pryse hoogs mededingend". Die plek is skoon, daar is hope parkeerplek en ook die gerief van die Spar inkoopentrum langs-aan. Dit is in die sakekern en maklik bereikbaar". Hierdie is net enkele van die pluimpies wat Tops Liquor daagliks van sy kliënte kry.

Die eienaar mnr. Werner Bachmann het op Walvisbaai grootgeword en hy verstaan wat die plaaslike kliënt van sy onderneming verwag. Voorts doen Top Liquor ook uiterste moeite vir die gerief van sy klante wat telefoniese- en e-posbestellings insluit en 'n afleweringdiens. Krediet- en debietkaarte word aanvaar en WSK kliënte is ook baie welkom. Top Liquors kan drank vir troues en funksies lewer, en maak ook geskenkpakke op. Dit is veral met die oog op die komende kersfunksies wat Top Liquors beslis jou antwoord op die kopseer van geskenk-pakke en drankvoorradé kan wees. "Vir my en my gesin en werknemers is Top Liquors 'n passie. Tevrede kliënte is die vrugte wat ons vir ons harde werk pluk", het mnr. Werner Bachmann geesdriftig gesê toe die Namib Times Top Liquors vroeër vandeeweek besoek het. Op die foto's: mnr. Bachmann by een van die rakke wat sy drankverskaffers geen moeite ontsien het om dit in 'n inkopieplesier te omskep nie. Aldus mnr. Bachmann sal daar gereeld kompetisies en spesiale aanbiedinge op produkte wees. no doubt a lot of Australian rugby supporters celebrating our victory over the Springboks yesterday. There are also a number of us that are wondering how on earth we managed to pull it off against a side that dominated possession and territory and line outs. Now, I don't want to take anything away from the Australian victory — our boys did perform superbly but on the day the Springboks were, we have to admit, the better side. The Boks, as always were unanimous in defeat with a somewhat pragmatic approach to the result. I wonder what our boys would have said faced with the same situation of blatant incompetence by Mr Bryce Lawrence. I support Australia and always will but for those of us that believe in fair play this was a hollow victory. This was very much like fighting a worthy opponent with one arm strapped behind his back — it leaves a bad taste. There were rumours about Mr Lawrence's impartiality before kick-off from a lot of ex-pat South Africans now living in Australia but we tend to dismiss these conspiracy theories with a grin. Certainly, Mr Lawrence's performance on the field did nothing to dispel those theories. His performance was nothing short of abysmal. He did not award the Bok try because of a dubious forward pass. I have looked and looked not look forward. Minutes later when the Boks once he called them back for a forward pass. If the first call was contentious, there certainly was nothing wrong with the second one. Here, I must ask — why not use the "eye in the sky"? An impressive expensive piece of equipment that should be used for such decisions. He failed to penalise Poocek for slowing the ball down. If we had played like that against the All Blacks, they would not have been so quiet about it — and rightly so. In the dying minutes of the game he was in full view of at least 2 high tackles by our boys that went unpunished. Any of these transgressions, if properly acted on, would have surely given the game to the Boks with their advantage over territory. To rub salt in the South African wounds, he awarded a high tackle to the Wallabies for a chest high tackle. We won, but did we really? Our sport has always been regarded as a "hooligan sgame played by gentlemen" — If we do not want rugby union to degenerate into a farce that soccer can become we need to make sure that our worthy gentlemen Mr Lawrence, I would advise against any planned holidays to South Africa for a couple of years". Well, 'Doc' Danie Craven always ended arguments about where to put the blame with the parting words, "look at the scoreboard" but I hope that after the local Bok supporters read this article they will feel just a little bit better. Maybe the South Africans also read this mail and decided that the Boks still deserve their support. A fellow Namibian told me that they landed on Oliver Tambo at the same time as the returning South African rugby team and he was astonished at the thousands who turned up to welcome their boys home. He was impressed with the fact that the massive crowd consisted of all races and regards it as a sure sign that sports pull people together, even if they support a losing team. Our own Namibian boys came back early but the welcome they received on home soil was just as good and we couldn't even
