

At Rössing we believe that our business can provide a strong base for the economic growth of the communities around us, the Erongo region and for Namibia as a whole.

Our economic contribution is made up of the value we add by paying wages, employee benefits, taxes and royalties as well as our dividend and interest payments and the capital we retain for investing in the growth of the business. We also make significant payments to our suppliers of goods and services, both locally and at national level.

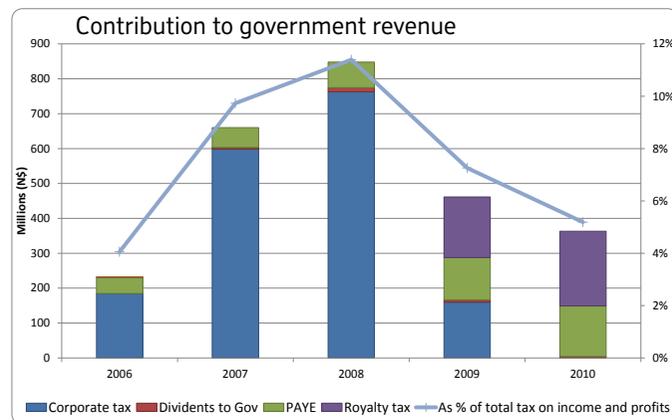

This information brochure highlights some of our key socio-economic contributions to Namibia over the past five years.

Did you know?

- Rössing is the largest single employer in the mining sector (inclusive of permanent and contractor employees).
- Rössing is the single largest company by turnover in the Erongo region.
- 98% of Rössing's employees are Namibians.
- Rössing annually spends about N$33,000 per beneficiary per year on education and skills development.
- Over 60% of Rössing's procurement budget is annually spent on Namibian goods and services.

Direct contribution to government revenue

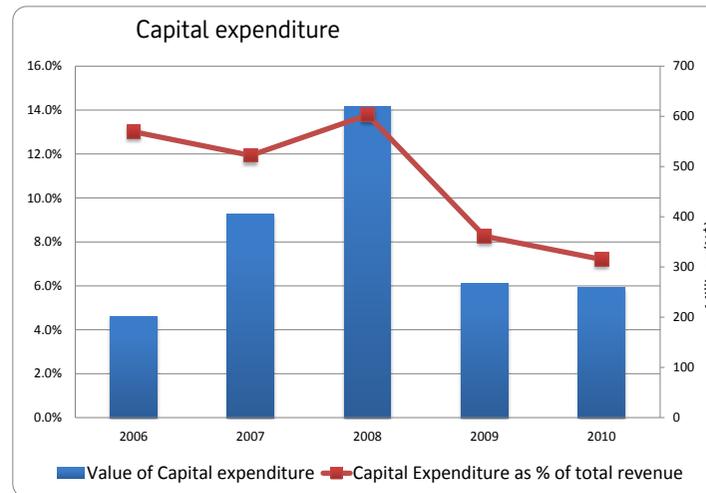

Since 2006, Rössing has contributed over N$2.6 billion to government revenue in taxes, which represents about 8% of Namibia's total tax on income and profits annually.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Capital expenditure

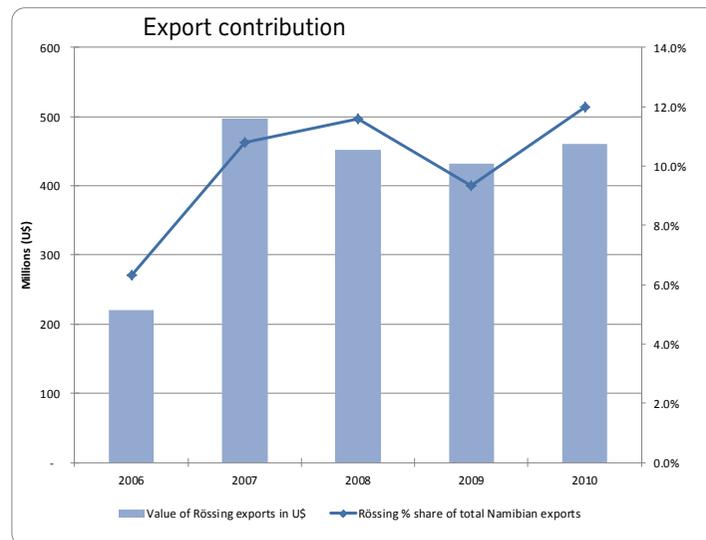

As a testimony of our confidence in the role of clean nuclear energy in the world, Rössing continues to re-invest a significant portion of our earnings in the growth of the business. On average, about 10% of our earnings are annually re-invested in the company through capital expenditure projects.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Export earnings

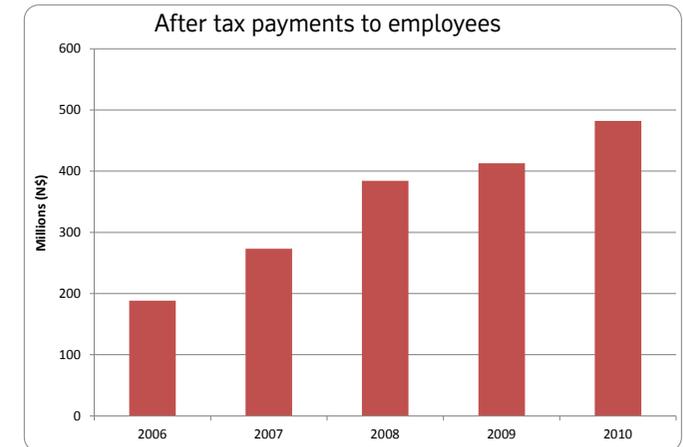

Rössing sells its uranium oxide to approved nuclear power utilities around the world, which earns foreign exchange for the country. For the past five years about US$2 billion have been generated through the company's sales.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited & Bank of Namibia

Payments to employees

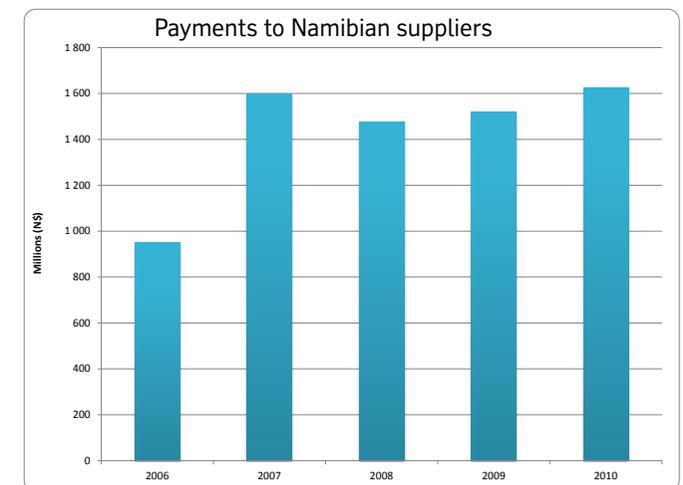

In keeping with growth in employee numbers payments to employees have more than doubled over the past five years. This in turn contributes to local demand for goods and services in both the regional and national economies.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Spending on Namibian goods and services

About N$7 billion has been spent on local goods and services over the last five years, thereby supporting the growth of enterprises and much needed employment opportunities downstream.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Education and skills development

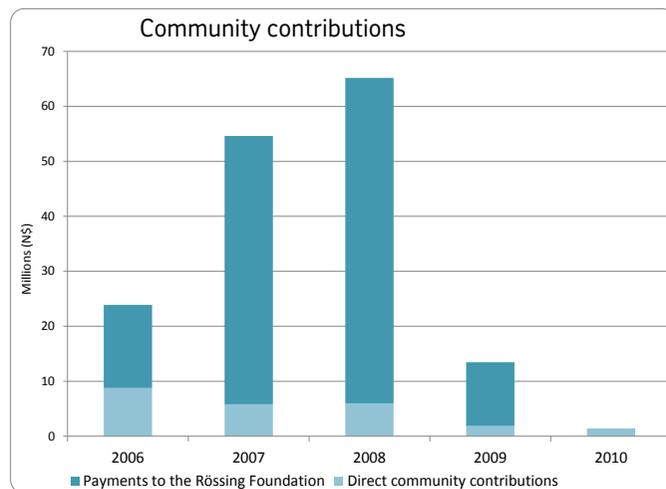

Human capital development remains one of the key features of Rössing's long-term contribution to Namibia. We have spent over N$70 million in the past five years on beneficiaries averaging nearly 400 annually, spread across both employees and non-employees.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Community Contributions

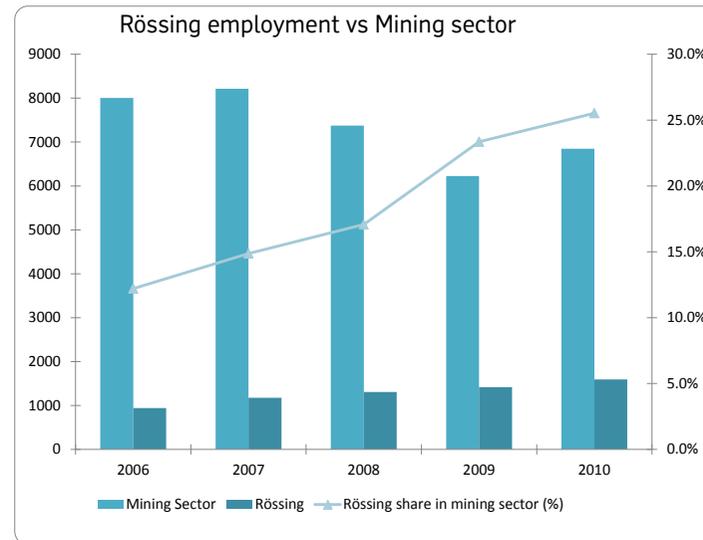

The Rössing Foundation is Rössing's corporate social investment arm and receives 3% of the company's profit before tax. About N$135 million has been disbursed to the Foundation over the past five years. In addition, Rössing has also directly donated just over N$24 million to various community sponsorship programmes.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

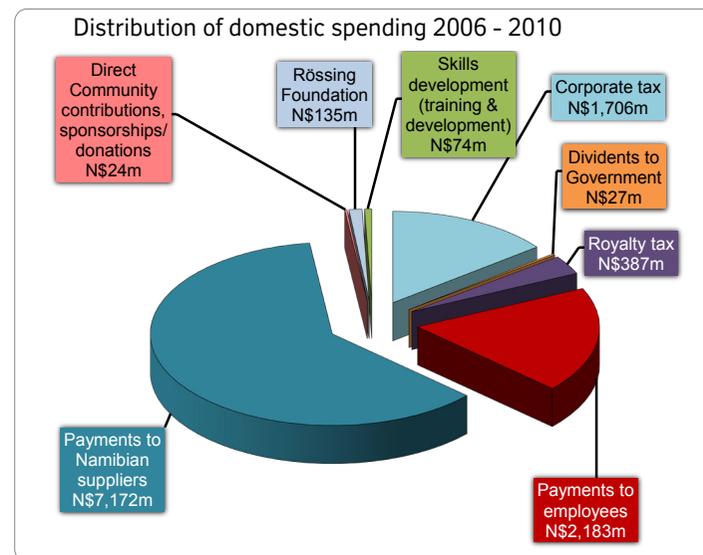

Employment creation

Rössing's direct employment has seen significant growth over the last five years, rising from 939 in 2006 to 1,592 in 2010, or about a quarter of total employment in the mining sector. In addition about 1000 contractor employees are on site every day.

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited & Chamber of Mines of Namibia

A summary of local contributions

Source: Rössing Uranium Limited

Adding value to Namibia

2006 - 2010